

TRANSITION FOR ALL

Week 7

Transition support

Thank you so much to the children and parents who have shared their work with me to pass onto secondary schools. The first 2 to come in were from Liam, who currently attends Springfield Primary, and Marcus who is at Moat Farm Junior school. If you have done this work and would like me to pass it on, feel free to do so.

This weeks transition support is about your journey to school. What will that be like? How will you be travelling?

Can you draw a map or write a series of instructions on how to get to your new school? (Get in the car and let an adult drive me does not count!)

Even if you will have a lift it is a really good idea to have a Plan B just in case. You could use a good old fashioned map, google maps, your knowledge of the local area or ask for an adults help to plan your journey.

Will you need to use public transport? Do you know how to do that? How can you practice how to do this without actually getting on a bus/train/metro? You might need a family member to help you out here.

I am sure that your secondary schools would really love to see your work, maybe you could even film yourself practicing using public transport. As always if you would like to send these to me I will pass them on, the first 2 people each week to do that will get a mention (if you want it!)

Please send any work or stories to liz_stevenson@sandwell.gov.uk

VE day and Top Tip

Did you, your family, your street, your building, your floor or anyone else you know do anything special for VE day on Friday?

It was a very special day and I would love to see how you spent your time? Regardless of age and year group it would be lovely if you could send me some pictures or write ups of what you did. I will share as much as I can next week.

Parents and Carers Top Tip— As important as a routine is, the harmony in your home is as important! If you need to change the way you are working with your children because the 'novelty' has worn off then please do! Our house is on routine number 4 now and I fully expect it to change again before the children are back at school in any capacity!
