

Everyday Heroes with Jaz Ampaw-Farr Webinar

Date: Wednesday 27th January
Time: 3.30pm - 4.30pm

WMVS Children in Care Foundation is hosting a FREE webinar for designated teachers, social workers, personal advisors, carers, virtual school teams – anyone supporting our children in care in Key Stage 4 and Post 16 education through a pandemic!

During lockdown, the everyday heroes designated teachers, post 16 educators, social workers, carers and all of the others supporting our children in care have demonstrated their invincibility. When facing adversity, some organisations set their sights on simply surviving, others aim for thriving. That's no small feat - even without the continuing challenge and impact of navigating a global pandemic. Spend some time for yourselves to be motivated and refreshed for the challenges ahead so we can be our best for the children that we support and help them to excel and thrive in the next few months.

Come and take some time to hear the inspiring Jaz Ampaw-Farr and find out about the exciting plans we have to set up a You Tube channel with Jaz so we can deliver weekly messages to support our children in key stage 4 and 5 over the next two terms.

We will be recording the whole webinar, so don't worry if you can't make it. The recording will be available to all those who have registered to attend.

Jaz Ampaw-Farr

It would be easy to say, 'You've never met anyone like Jaz before'. Her passion for the potential we can uncover in ourselves when we are just 10% braver and her insight into how to remove the barriers that hinder connection between us and those we seek to influence make Jaz one of those people you will never forget.

Jaz's story is one of growing up in the midst of most appalling abuse, poverty and hardship during which she encountered five teachers (and, importantly, one pimp) whose belief in her literally saved her life.

There are many messages leaders take away from listening to Jaz as she shares her story across the UK, in the US (where she's being called 'The British Oprah'!) and elsewhere. Clearly, the impact that we have to transform lives comes through loud and clear but there is more to it than just that.

Jaz also embodies the idea of bravery and the willingness to be defined by what you've tried even if you fail, rather than by what you could have done. Both her (very) brief stint on TV's The Apprentice and her career as a stand up comedian are good examples of this. And she shows that a human being can be subject to the worst depravities of her fellow humans and not only survive, but thrive – and do so without anger or bitterness.
